UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

A trip across College Park reveals a university which has changed markedly in the 1990s. Almost a half-billion dollars worth of construction has recently taken place or is ongoing. A campus already known for its beauty is getting better. Academically, College Park's peers are the best public universities in America. College Park is surrounded by opportunities in sports and the arts, by chances to visit mountains or shore. It's a good location.

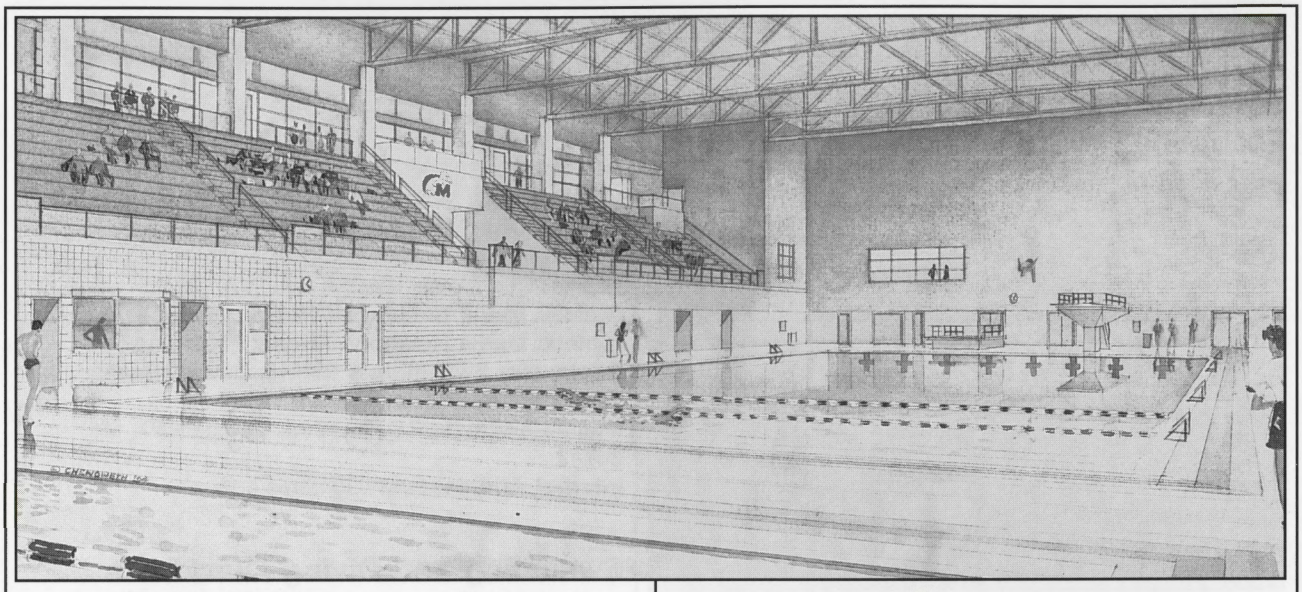
CAMPUS RECREATION CENTER NATATORIUM



The 1997-98 season will mark the beginning of a new era in the Maryland swimming program. In January, the Terps will move into the new state-of-the-art Campus Recreation Center, located on the North end of the College Park campus.

Maryland will swim its first two meets of the year in Cole Field House Pool, but come January, they will compete in a top notch natatorium.

The pool in the new facility is 50 meters x 25 yards and has two movable bulkheads. The depth of the pool will range from eight to 13 feet and the competition lanes will be nine feet wide.

Divers have the luxury of using two one-meter springboards as well as two three-meter springboards during their competition.

When swimmers are not competing in a race, they can warm up (or warm down) in the 10 lane, 25-yard pool, located adjacent to the main pool. This will give plenty of room for all swimmers to prepare for a race.

The Campus Recreation Center Natatorium is especially geared towards spectators. More than 1,000 fans can watch the meets from balcony seating, which is designed to give everyone an excellent view of the entire pool. Concession stands are also located near the seating area.

Above all else, the new natatorium caters to the student-athletes. Both the men's and women's teams have their own locker rooms with oversized lockers, two 150-square foot saunas just off the pool deck and two multi-purpose meeting rooms, also just off the pool deck.

The Campus Recreation Center won't just help the Terps the day of a meet. Through the use of a 12,000 square foot weight training room and cardiovasular fitness area, the student-athletes will be able to stay in top shape all year round.

With the new facility in place, the University of Maryland is in an excellent position to attract top notch high school and college championship meets to College Park. In addition, Maryland is also in position to attract national and international competitions.

January 14, 1998 will therefore be a special date in the history of the Maryland swimming program, as the Terps square off against George Washington in the first ever meet at the new natatorium.

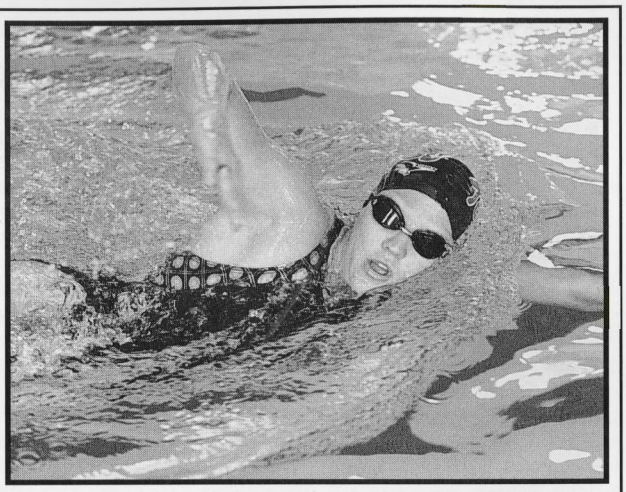
1997-98 TEAM PREVIEWS

Senior captain John Williamson



200-yard freestyle record-holder Kim Piotro

MEN'S PREVIEW

Under the leadership of senior captains Scott Grayson and John Williamson and junior captain Matt Childs, the 1997-98 men's swimming and diving team is determined to secure its third consecutive winning season and continue to rise in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Grayson returns for his senior season as the Terps' leading swimmer. He has qualified for nationals in the 100-yard breaststroke in each of the last two seasons and has led Maryland in scoring in two out of the last three years. Last year, he was named to the All-ACC team for the first time in his career.

Junior Scot Budde and Childs were the second and third leading scorers for the Terps last season and are back for their third season at College Park. Last year, Budde lead Maryland in the distance events and was ranked among the ACC's top 10 swimmers in the 1650-yard freestyle the entire season. Childs led Maryland in the backstroke events and placed seventh in the ACC Championships in the 100-yard butterfly last February.

Williamson qualified for the 1997 Senior National Championships in the 100-yard breaststroke. He placed ninth at last season's ACC Championships in the same event.

Several outstanding freshmen should make an immediate impact on the team this season. Aaron Peterson was the Virginia High School state champion in the 50, 100 and 200-yard freestyle events last season. Kevin Burke has been a member of the U.S. Junior National Diving team three times. Ryan Walker was a seven-time first-team All-American selection in the sprint events.

WOMEN'S PREVIEW

Under the leadership of senior captains Alyssa Anderson, Kristen Erndl and Eve Rossi, the women's swimming and diving team is geared towards achieving its fourth consecutive winning season and continuing to rise in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Leading the way for Maryland is senior Dawn Josephson, who has led the Terps in scoring the past two seasons. Josephson has been the team's leader in both the backstroke and individual medley events.

Junior Kim Piotro and sophomore Sarah Solomon form a one-two punch in the sprint events. Each broke a school record last season (Solomon in the 100-yard freestyle, Piotro in the 200-yard freestyle) and consistently ranked among the top 10 sprinters in the ACC. This year, they will be joined by freshman Katy Novotny, who broke five Maryland high school state records in sprint events.

Erndl proved to be one of Maryland's top swimmers in the ACC Championships. In addition to breaking the school record in the 400-yard individual medley, she led the Terps in scoring at the conference meet.

Another swimmer who broke a school record last season is senior Heather Wilson. The record holder in the 500-yard freestyle will once again lead Maryland in the distance events.

Anderson has been the mainstay for the Terps in diving the past three years. Each season, she has qualified for the regional diving championships. Complimenting Anderson in the diving events are sophomore Krista Irish and freshman Courtenay Miller.

Jim Wenhold

Jim Wenhold begins his fifth season as the head coach of both the men's and women's swimming teams at the Univeristy of Maryland.

Since he became head coach, both the men's and women's teams have improved significantly. The men's team has a record of 23-22 in duel meet competition and over the past two seasons alone, their record stands at 14-7. The women, meanwhile, have compiled a record of 34-14 in duel meet competition and over the past two seasons, including a 19-4 record over the past two years.

Wenhold graduated from Maryland in 1985 with a degree in Physical Education. He was the swim team captain in 1983 and 1984, held the school records in the 100-yard freestyle and 100-yard breaststroke and was named the team's MVP his senior year. In addition, he was also given the team's scholar-athlete award his junior year.

In 1987, Wenhold received his master's degree in Sport Management from Maryland. It was during that time that he served as a student assistant coach for the Terps in the sprint events.

In 1988, he became an assistant coach of the Terps as well as a full-time faculty member in the Department of Kinesiology. In 1993, he was elevated to Head Coach

Wenhold is married to former Maryland swimmer Amy Dilweg.

Teri Hayburn

Teri Hayburn begins her fifth year as the associate head coach of both the men's and women's swimming teams at the University of Maryland. During the past four years, she has contributed greatly to the program in terms of recruiting, knowledge of stroke techniques and overall coaching.

Hayburn was a twelve-time All-American a two-time academic All-American, and the team captain during her undergraduate career. She swam for Clarion University for two years and then transferred to Villanova in 1987. Two years later, she earned her undergradu-ate degree in Psychology from Villanova.

After serving as an assistant with Villanova during the 1989-90 season, Hayburn was an assistant with the Terps the following three years. In 1993, she was promoted to associate head coach. While coaching at Maryland, she earned her master's degree in education in 1992.

She married John Hayburn in 1995.

Dimitar Piperov

Dimitar Piperov begins his first season as an assistant coach with the Maryland program.

Piperov was extensivley involved with the Bulgarian National Team from 1975-1989. He also worked with the East German team from 1980-91.

After graduating from the University of Softia (Bulgaria) with his degree in biochemistry in 1968, he earned his coaching degree from the Bulgaria Sport Academy in 1974.

He is married to Dr. Liliana Piperov and has a son, Kamen.

John Wolsh

John Wolsh begins his third season as the diving coach for both the men's and women's teams. He is responsible for both recruiting and coaching all divers on each team.

Wolsh was a four-year letterwinner for the Terps from 1976-79. He was second in the ACC as a freshman and qualified for the NCAA Championships twice during his career.

He and his wife Lisa have two children, Cassandra (2) and Victoria (1) and live in Germantown, Md.

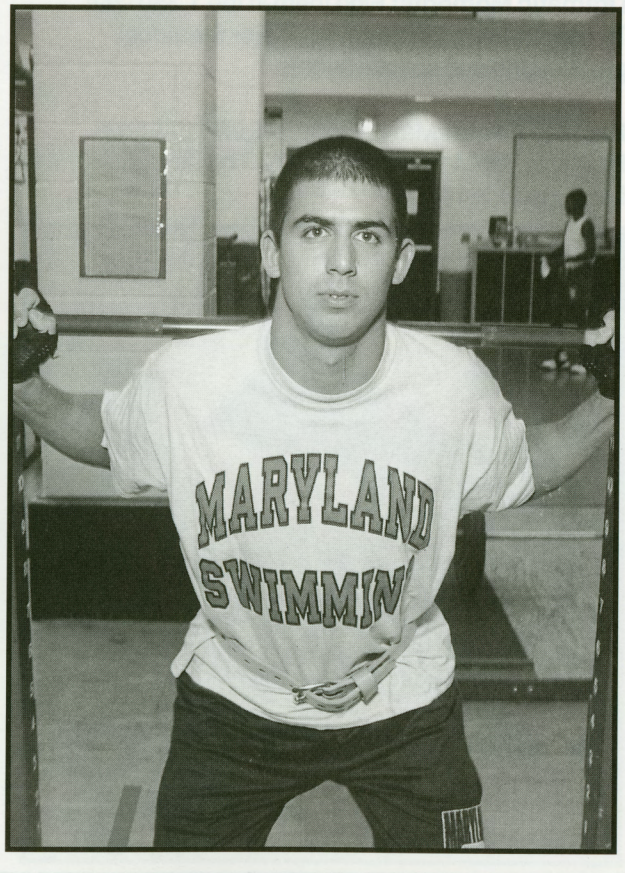
Academic Support

The University of Maryland is committed to helping all student-athletes get a degree in a career field that will enhance their lives after college. This committment is not only demonstrated by Coach Wenhold and his staff, but also by Maryland's Academic Support Unit.

The academic support unit is set up so each staff member is responsible for working with specific teams, such as the swimming teams. The department also operates an extensive computer room and a library to assist student-ahtletes throughout their academic career. In addition, the academic support unit organizes over 100 tutors from all academic disciplines to work with student-athletes on a one-to-one basis.

The academic support unit also offers numerous other benefits to Maryland student-athletes. Personal academic assessment, advising and counseling is available, as is priority registration for classes. Career mentoring and summer internships are also offered so student-athletes can make a successful transition from the University of Maryland into the workplace.

Strength and Conditioning



The physical preparation of a student-athlete to compete in swimming and diving has developed into a critical component of the overall program. Emphasis is put on physical conditioning, not only to enhance performance, but to prevent injuries.

Under the direction of Dwight Galt, the head strength coach, Maryland has employed a program geared toward maximizing athletic development. Galt and his staff make every attempt to accomodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The current weight room features 7,200 square feet filled will top notch equipment. The facility includes an 11-ton free-weight system with an olympic platform, as well as state-of-the-art electrolyzed and plate-loaded equipment.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

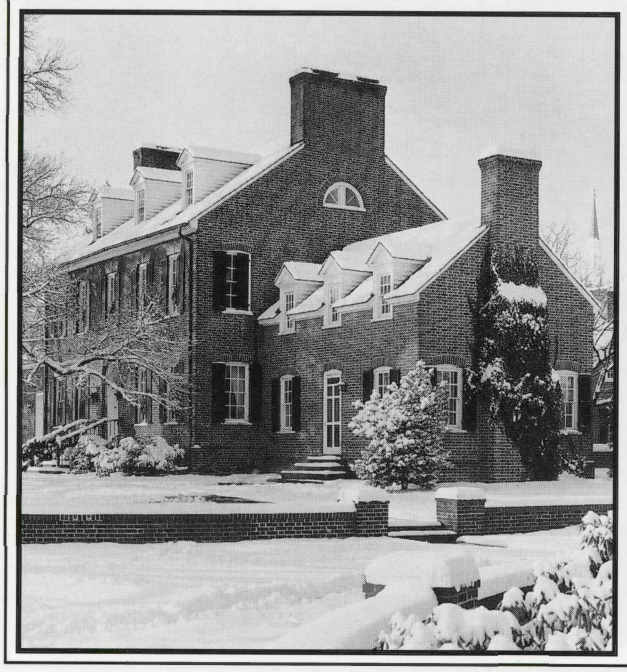
Imagine a university so comprehensive that it offers degrees in 98 disciplines, so technologically advanced that it manages specifically designed research facilities not found on any other campus in the country and boasts a telecommunications system which serves as the model for universities worldwide. At the same time, it is a university concerned enough to include special housing to match the student interests and to ensure that half of all undergraduate classes have fewer than 30 students. That's a snapshot of the University of Maryland at College Park, the flagship institution of Maryland's system of higher education.

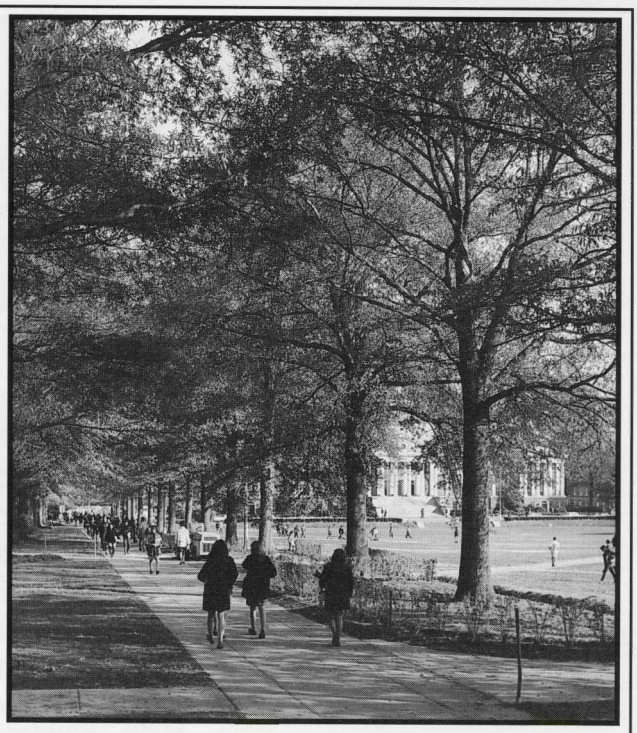
Academic Stature: Maryland is one of only 30 public research universities in the prestigious 58 member Association of American Universities.

Baccalaureate Choices: Offers degrees in 98 disciplines. In addition, Maryland offers pre-professional programs in dentistry, law, medical technology, medicine, nursing, optometry, osteopathetic medicine, pharmacy, physical therapy and pediatric medicine.

Dramatic Moments: Find them in the 1,350 seat Tawes Theater, the stage for major theatrical productions and special events.

Faculty Facts: Maryland has 1,998 full-time faculty and 544 part-time faculty. The student-faculty ratio is 14:1.





Ideas: More than 100 active patent disclosures by university inventors are managed by the Office of Technology Liason.

Journalist Pick: The College of Journalism was selected as one of two sites in the United States for the Hubert H. Humphry Fellowship Program and has been named one of the nation's top communications programs by the Gannett Center for media holdings.

Library Holdings: Maryland is the largest academic research library system in the Washington metropolitan area. There are 2.8 million volumes and 4.6 million items on microfilm.

Nationally Noted: A dozen academic departments and programs at College Park placed in the top 10 among U.S. public universities by the National Academy of Sciences.

U.S. News & World Report Findings: The Department of Computer Science ranks No. 12 in the nation and the Department of Physics is the 13th-best. The college of business and management is considered 14th in student selectivity.

Value Added: Maryland is included in the Guide to 101 of the Best Values in Colleges and Universities, published annually by the Center for College Enrollment Studies.
